Hollywood's Mayor Peter Bober Got Unplugged with the Hollywood Young Professionals

HOLLYWOOD, FL –The Hollywood Young Professionals (HYP) hosted an exclusive Unplugged with Mayor Peter Bober luncheon on November 6th at Legend's Café (2029 Harrison Street, Hollywood). The event provided a forum where guests got the opportunity to hear what the mayor had to say on subjects like his family life to his law practice to his top five songs on his iPod.

The audience also had the opportunity to submit questions during the event for the mayor. The interview was conducted by HYP's very own Chair Bryan DeCort of AAA Parking.

HYP's Title Sponsor, Eugene Yim of BB&T, was also honored with an Award of Appreciation for their continued support of the program.

HYP is a program of the Greater Hollywood Chamber of Commerce and is a networking group of dedicated, talented young professionals ranging in age from 21-40 who either live or work in the greater Hollywood area.

Their mission is to provide a platform to develop relationships professionally and socially, provide volunteer awareness and create opportunities for young professionals to be engaged in the Hollywood community through business and economic development programs.
